Hi Will,

I know you're traveling, but can you email this back to me with permission?

Dear Columnist,

We have a new feature at our syndicate where we are delivering columns by a variety of writers. The columns are delivered to approximately eight hundred subscribers, most of whom are editorial page editors at daily newspapers.

We ask that the columns be provocative. Aim for six hundred words, if the column runs long, editors will cut it. We ask you to include an e-mail address that readers can respond to. Also include a two sentence biography to run at the end of the column. We would also like a photo of your face, although that is not required.

If we choose to distribute your column(s) we will pay you $100.00 for the non-exclusive rights to resell the column(s). You agree not to distribute the column(s) through any other syndicate. You will inform us if the column(s) has been run in another publication before you sent it to us, and will inform us if you sell it to another publication at a later date.

You warrant that the column(s) you are sending to us is your own creation, that you own the reproduction rights to the column, that the column does not infringe upon the rights of third parties, and you agree to indemnify us against any costs we incur as a result of any breach or alleged breach of this warranty.

Please indicate your agreement to these terms by signing below and fax this letter to us at (818) 346-7234.

Truly,
